"Steps are in progress at the South to meet the emergency occasioned by the secession, the adjournment to Baltimore, and the call for a new Convention at Richmond. In Georgia, the most populous and important of the seceding States, a very warm struggle is going on between the friends and the opponents of the secession policy, the immediate occasion being Attorneys and Notaries, Plymouth, Morshall Co., the election of delegates to the State Convention, called by the Democratic execuive Committee to meet at Milledgeville on & Bro., Chicago, Loudon & Co., Phila., Graff, the 4th of June. At Augusta, a delegation hostile to the secessionists has been elected, and a resolution has been adopted in favor of sending delegates on to Baltimore. A proposition in favor of sending delegates to Richmond also, or of authorizing the delegates elected to sit in both conventions was voted down. Ex-Governor Johnson has written a letter in which he takes the same grounds with Stevens, viz: that the Democratic party is pledged to the doctrine of leaving the people of the Rooms, Michigan street, east side corner of Territories to regulate the question of Gano, where he may be consulted during office slavery in their own way, subject only to the Constitution of the United States, and of referring any controversy that may Homeopathic Physician .- Particular attention paid arise as to the kinding force of any territo obstetric practic, and chronic diseases of torial laws on that subject to be settled by women, and diseases of children, office over C. the Judiciary. Certain citizens however, of the State, have issued a call for another Convention, to be held at Montgomery on the same day, for the purpose of electing delegates to fill the seats at Bultimore left vacant by the secession of the Alabama delegates at Charleston. In this call the secessionists are charged with the design, not merely with destroying the Democratic party, but of precipitaing a revolution intended to result in the dissolution of the Union.

The Democratic State Central Commit-

WHAT CAUSED SEWARD'S DEFEAT .-- It was generally conceded at Chicago, on Thursday evening last, the day before the palloting for President by the Convention, that Mr. Seward would be nominated .-Greeley was so well satisfied of it, that he telegraphed his Tribune to that effect, though he himself was violently opposed to Seward. The correspondent of the Commercial of this city telegraphed that there was no doubt of Seward's nomination the next day. Other correspondents predicted the same thing. On the strength of that general conviction, the friends of Mr. Seward cracked three hundred bottles of champaign at the Tremont House, Thursday evening. The question naturally arises, how is it then he was not nominated We will answer as we got it from an intelligent Republican who was present. He tells us that the three Ropublican candidates for Governor for the respective states of Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois went together to the several delegations from New England, and some other States, and represented to them that the Republican party, in their States, could not survive the nomination of Mr. Seward, and that in the event of his nomination, they would go home and decline the canvass in their respective States. It was that threat that produced such a sudden change, and caused the defeat of Seward .-- Cin. Eng.

The passengers were aroused from sleep by the noise and excitement in the cabin. Just at that time, a gentleman named C. M. Fort, coming out of his state room into the cabin, was fataliv stabbed by Sleath, and expired in a few moments. He resided in Springfield, Robertson county, Tenn. Another passenger, named R. J. Lyle, of Nashville, Tenn., being aroused by the noise, opened his state-room door to look out, und was immediately stabbed by Sleath. Lyle only said, " I am stabbed," and expired without a groan, the bowie knife having penetrated through the heart.

At this juncture, the captain, who had been asleep in his room, was called, and coming at once into the cabin, he succeeded in getting the knife from Sleath, and then secured him. The murder er had upon his person at the time of his arrest several other knives and a revolver. The murdererer is a deformed creature, small in stature, broken backed, and about twenty-eight years of age. He said he was a native of Weston, Lewis county, Virginia, and that he had been teach ing school in a place called Knoxville, Cherokee county, Texas. The reason given by him for committing the deed was that they were parties seekin his life-although they had never met before. He acknowledges the deed, but does not seem to care particularly about it.

THE SAME EVERYWHERE .- That Republicanism is the same in Pennsylvania, we affirm upon the leading spirit at the Chicago Convention :

"Never, in the history of Pennsylvania, bas a session been marked by more corrupt, wicked intriguing than the present. Every good citizen feels the blush of honest indignation tingling their cheeks when he thinks of their proceedings. No measure, however beneficial, could stand the lightest chance of passing, unless by profese expenditure of money. Almost every man, with some noble exceptions, had his price, and if common rumor be true, it was an enormous price. If it could not be paid in the hard cash, secure prospective profits were just as good."

This is Republican testimony as to the purity of Republican rule.

But your pury, screwed up, wasp waisted doll dressed, consumption mortgaged and novel devouring daughters of fashion and idleness: you are no more fit for matrimony than a pullet is to look after a brood of fourteen chickens. The truth is my dear girls, you want less restraint and more liberty of action: more kuchen and less parlor:

more frankness and less mock modesty.

Loose your waists and breathe oftner the pure air, and become 'beautiful to look upon,' and as nature designed you. About a year ago, an abolitionist living in Madison, Lake county, Ohio, employed Miss Martineau is a great advocate of getting up a negro, and admitted him to equal social equality with his family. > The secret of success in farming, as well as everything else, is doing everything in the right time. The reason why some men are always behind with their work; their planting or sowing too late: their crops overtaken by weeds, is because they put off too many things for to-morrow that should be done to-day. He who allows the labor of one day to crowd upon another, is always a little too late with everything, and he at once concludes that he is born to bad luck.
